

Function Block 202    Comment Box

Your code require comments for at least two reasons:
1. For yourself - the human memory is volatile.
2. For others - so they can understand what your code is doing.

Function Description

This function block contains no functionality other than to serve as a mechanism to add user comments to a code page. There is no limit to the number of comment boxes per page and you can locate them at appropriate positions on the code page. Note that comment boxes do auto-size, but the width is limited to that of the pop-up.
